They employed an architect to draw plans for remodeling and improving the building, and sent proposals to several well-known builders; among them being your fellow townsman, George W. Thom, who being the lowest bidder, received the contract at a sum inside the appropriation.

Your committee felt that the sum appropriated was inadequate to do justice to the work and just at this time, Mr. Edward F. Searles of Methuen, kindly interested himself in the work and offered his assistance, provided he might carry out his own ideas.

Your committee, knowing of his excellent taste and wide experience in building, wisely gave him the privilege of directing the work as he chose, and the result is, we have today as fine a hall as any town in the State can boast.

As much of the ancient ornamental work was brought from other lands, no other Town Hall can compare with this, in point of ancient elegance.

Mr. Searles has not only given of his means, but he has given his personal attention to all the details of finish which his skilled taste in architecture enabled him to do, and through cold and storm, he has come as often as once a week, to superintend the work.

We, the committee, feel that we owe him a debt of gratitude which thanks will not cover.

Mr. Searles has already expended a sum exceeding the appropriation, and it is his wish that the hall be used only for town purposes, concerts, lectures, etc. That no orders be allowed to mutilate its walls by hanging decorations, or that no traveling shows be allowed within its doors.

If the people respect the wishes of the donor, he has expressed his willingness to still further improve the building and grounds, and we shall have a building which we can point to with pride and with feelings of gratitude to the man who has so generously aided us.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Board of Health respectfully submits its report for the year ending Feb. 15, 1900.

The term of Charles H. Ayer having expired, William H. Presby, M. D., was appointed to serve for three years from April 1, 1899.

James E. Sloan having served only one year, resigned, and William E. Lancaster was appointed to serve for two years from April 1, 1899.

The board organized with William H. Presby, M. D., as president, and James Ayer, as secretary.

Many cases of nuisance have been called to the attention of the board, all of which were promptly attended to.

We have to report 41 cases of nuisance, most of which have been abated. We regret to state that some of our town authorities have been negligent in complying with the recommendations of the board, and in consequence, there are now existing nuisances on the public property, which is disgraceful. The fact that co-ordinate branches of the town government are involved, has prevented the board from pressing its orders in those departments. We therefore again call the attention of the Overseer of the Poor, and School Board, to the condition of the almshouse and outbuildings, and the several school buildings subject to their control.

Visits have been made to all the manufactories, railroad stations, churches, schoolhouses, almshouse and town house, and in only four instances has it been found necessary to serve notice on the owner. Of the five churches, three have ample and clean toilet rooms, one has none at all, and one is small, untidy and insufficient.

There were five cases of contagious disease reported, viz.: scarletina, 1; measles, 2; typhoid fever, 1; diphtheria, 1. None of the cases proved fatal.

Two dead animals were ordered to be buried.

Cases of poisoning occurred in the herd of cows belonging to Thomas W. Emerson, resulting in the death of four animals. The board deemed it necessary to prohibit the sale of milk from the herd until it should be decided by competent authority safe to do so. The State authorities were notified of the condition of affairs, and investigated the matter and reported the cause as arsenical poisoning by contact with paint cans in the pasture where they had been carelessly thrown. The board is gratified to learn that its action has been commended by the State officials.

There are no contagious diseases in town.

Numerous complaints have been made of the condition of the small stream on the east side of the turnpike at the depot village. It is alleged that sewage from two manufactories, and numerous residences, is conducted into this stream, and that in dry weather the exhalations from the stagnant water are almost unbearable to the residents lower down the stream; while their own sewage cannot find an outlet owing to the peculiar conditions existing. Several examinations have been made by the board, but, while recognizing the fact that something should be done to improve the situation, it is helpless to accomplish much without the co-operation of the selectmen, and the road agent.

We tender our thanks to the people of Salem for suggestions and assistance in the performance of our duty; and we again urge that more attention be paid to the condition of their sink drains and outhouses; that a general cleaning and sweetening up of the premises under their control, will be of great benefit to themselves and reduce the expense to the town treasury.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. PRESBY, M. D.,

JAMES AYER,

WILLIAM E. LANCASTER,

Board of Health.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Trustees of the Salem Public Library respectfully submit their annual report for the year ending Feb. 15, 1900:

The year just closed was the seventh in the history of our library, which has been open fifty-two Saturdays, afternoon and evening.

It is gratifying to know that public interest in it has not abated, although fewer books are taken out than was the case in the first years of its existence. This may be explained by the fact that there is always an obvious diversion from books to newspapers and magazines during the excitement of war times.

There is a vast amount of good reading in the best magazines. The trouble is that one is apt to skim them over, and the continual change of topic drives out what one has been reading.

Newspaper reading is much like running water through a sieve. A useful habit is to select rapidly the few important items and let the rest go unread.

"Fiction is based upon form, not upon the subject matter of the books." Some works of this class might properly be placed with religious books; others are historical, while many are discussions of problems of world-wide interest. Many of our readers are beginners who are not likely to be attracted by the best standard works in any department of literature. They look for easy and interesting books. It is our policy to supply this reasonable demand. Even when the books called for are of the more popular sort, and are read chiefly for amusement, the influence of the library is beneficent. But do not let fiction claim all or too much of your leisure time. Try to become interested in more solid reading; for example, take some branch of natural science.

Our young people especially, before the great cares of life surround them, ought to read the masterpieces of our literature; and they should be familiar with the history of at least our own country. Add to your stock of ideas or facts. General readers as well as instructors and students are coming more and more to realize the importance of systematic reading as compared with reading merely for pastime.

The ability of the library to serve the public under the varying circumstances of life, is one of its strong claims to generous support. The appropriation for the coming year should be at least as large as that for the year just past. The interest naturally centres on the new books. A failure to add from year to year the best new publications, would be hurtful to the usefulness as well as to the reputation of the library.

In connection with this report will be found a list of the books which have been added during the year. In this list are books for the benefit of all classes of our readers. Let us call attention to the excellent maps in our reference department. Some needed repairs have been made on the building, and new shades have been placed at the windows making the room more comfortable and attractive.

The Trustees wish to express their appreciation of the faithfulness and promptness with which the librarian has discharged her varied duties. They also extend thanks to all who during the year have contributed in any way to the success of this institution, especially to the National Government for the Report of the Smithsonian Institute and National Museum, 2 Vols.; to the State Government for the History of the 17th Regiment, N. H. V.; to Mr. Geo. W. Armstrong of Boston, for the Dedicatory Exercises of the Armstrong Library Building at Windham; and to Miss Jennie Kezer for Folle-Farine. For further details in regard to the finances, number of volumes, etc., the Trustees refer you to the reports of the Treasurer and Librarian.

CLINTON L. SILVER,
JOHN C. CROWELL,

Trustees.

ANNUAL SCHOOL REPORT BY THE # Board Of Education of the Town of Salem, N. H.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEBRUARY, 1900.

In submitting our annual report, we can say there have been few changes in teachers, save No. 5 school, which has had three different teachers during the year. We think we have at the writing of this report, the best corps of teachers taken as a whole, that the district has had for years.

There has been an earnest effort on the part of the School Board, heartily joined in with by the teachers, to bring our schools to a higher standard; and we believe our efforts have been crowned with success.

We wish some of the parents could see the importance of keeping their children in school more regularly, and not allow so many dismissals.

We believe some parents do their children great harm in discussing at home, the failings of the teacher as they may see them. Parents who allow their children to stay out half of the time or absent themselves for some slight cause, do not see the injury they inflict on others. It takes the child from the class on that particular day; it breaks the connection that should exist between each member, and weakens the strength of the class, just as taking a link here and there from a chain, weakens the whole. Some parents do not know where their children are during school hours; or else they do not care much for education. If they did, they would give attention to this subject. They can remedy this evil if they will. We will all admit that our children will be made better and wiser by being punctual and regular at school. The habit of being there at the time is no small thing. If they are prompt in this, they will be likely to be in other things, and even through life. But independent of the force of habit, children who are thus irregular in attendance not only lose the hours they are absent, but their absence, as we have seen, discourages the teacher, hinders their own advancement and that of the class, and otherwise disarranges the school. It is therefore to be lamented, that while time and money are spent for the benefit of such they should so lightly prize these opportunities. Besides this, a majority of those who attend our public schools will probably have no better opportunity than is there afforded to gain an education, and certainly they have no time to spend in idleness.

No. 1 school has been taught for the last six years by Miss Cora Maeder, and since the grading of the school, has had charge of the grammar grade, and has brought it to a high standard.

No. 1 Primary has been taught the entire year by Miss May E. Turner, who has labored faithfully in the discharge of her duties and won the respect and esteem of her pupils.

No. 3 school has had the advantage of the same teacher, Miss Katherine Brown, for four terms, and has made a wonderful change in this school for the best.

No. 4 school has been taught the entire year by Mrs. Emma F. Ford. What has been said of No. 3 school can be well said of this school.

No. 5 school has had the disadvantage of three different teachers during the year. These teachers have labored faithfully. We think that if the teachers could have had the co-operation of all the parents, any one of these teachers would have been successful.

No. 6 Grammar. We have been successful in securing good teachers for the entire year. Mr. Page, who taught the spring term is one of the best of teachers. He succeeded in bringing the school to a higher standard than it has ever reached. He had the co-operation of all the parents. This is one of the things that help a teacher more than anything else. The fall and winter terms have been taught by Miss Mary A. Austin of Wellesley, Mass. Miss Austin is a graduate of Wellesley College. This is her first school, and she has won the respect and love of her pupils, and has kept the school up to the standard which was made by Mr. Page.

No. 6 Primary. This school has had the same teacher for the past two years, Miss Maud Wheeler. Miss Wheeler has labored hard and is one of the best teachers for the school that we have had. The children all strive to do as she asks them. We believe the parents should visit this school more and see for themselves what is being done for their small children to get them started in their school life.

School No. 7. This school has been taught by the same teacher for the past two years or more, Miss Ida Ryder, who has labored hard to interest those under her care. We think she has been successful in her work. The pupils have made good progress in their studies and seem to be trying to make the best of their opportunities.

School No. 8. This school is one of the smallest schools in town, but in no respects inferior to the others in the scholarship of its pupils. The pupils are mostly of foreign parentage, but they would put some of our own children to shame in the way they try to learn. We think it would be well for some of our scholars to visit this school and profit thereby. This school has been taught by Miss Mary E. Woodbury, who is one of the best teachers. Miss Woodbury has the respect of the parents and love of her pupils.

No. 9 school has been taught by Miss Cora M. Haseltine, who is a teacher of ability and experience. We would call the attention of the parents who send children to this school, what we have heretofore said in regard to having children more regularly at school.

No. 10 school has been taught the last two terms of the year by Miss Mary R. Webster, of Lawrence, Mass. Miss Webster is a teacher of considerable experience and excellent ability. This school has improved wonderfully under her charge.

In conclusion, we have to say that the amount expended for repairs is quite large. Nearly one hundred and sixty-six dollars was expended for new desks at No. 4 schoolhouse. No. 4 schoolhouse and out-buildings, and No. 10 out-buildings have been newly shingled. No. 1 schoolhouse has been newly painted. No. 6 schoolhouse has been supplied with new chairs.

We recommend that for school purposes, the same amount be raised as last year.
